

ROYAL CHAMPAGNE HOTEL AND SPA

← BACK TO ISSUE

NEXT ARTICLE →

For a hotel that sits within a UNESCO World Heritage Site neighboured by Epernay, the capital of Champagne and the historic city of Reims, it is only fitting that the lush bounty of the local wineries is explored through exceptional guest experiences. Champagne house visits can be arranged on request, but for the ultimate view of the area's celebrated vineyards, a low altitude flight in a fighter jet flown by former military professionals is hard to beat.

← PREVIOUS ARTICLE

NEXT ARTICLE →

RELATED ARTICLES

TRAVEL

The Macallan Manor House at Rosewood London

Take the evening chill off with a nip of single malt whisky infused with spices and JING tea. Thanks to The Macallan's temporary transformation of The Rosewood London's iconic courtyard terrace into an eclectic Scottish manor house, you can do just that. In this cosy terrace setting, guests can create their own hot toddy and...

TRAVEL

Oxeye

When the debut restaurant from chef owner Sven-Hanson Britt opens the doors to its new London home in Embassy Gardens later this October, foodies will no doubt flock from far and wide. Hosting six settings, three lunches and three dinners a week, Sven promises to bring food, drink and art together in a contemporary space...

TRAVEL

The Painter's Room at Claridge's

This gem of a bar housed on the ground floor of Claridge's hotel, is a vision in blush pink. Taking its cue from the original 1930's space created with murals by artist Mary Lea, today's reincarnation is the work of interior designer Bryan O'Sullivan, with an impressive light installation by artist Annie Morris. As for...